THE CUCUMBER.

A Very Ancient Esulent—its History and Universal Consumption.

From Hardwicke for July.

The cucumber is known to have been cultivated for more than three thousand years. In ancient Egypt it was extensively grown, and is so at the present day, the succulent nature of the plant enabling it to resist the drought of the sandy plains, while it flourishes well in the richer soils watered by the Nile. The want of this vegetable was one of the grievances complained of to Moses by the Israelites in the wilderness. The cucumber is mentioned in a particular manner by some of the early writers on plants. Columella gives directions for forcing the plant by artificial means. The Emperor Tiberius was so fond of cucumbers that they were served up at his table every day all the year round. This appears to be the earliest account of forcing plants which we read of in ancient times. Pliny appears to have considered this vegetable unwholesome in an uncooked state, as he tells us it will live in the stomach until the next day, and cannot be reduced to food. We have no precise date when the cucumber was first introduced into England. The cucumber, notwithstanding its extensive use among all classes in this country, is considered unwholesome by most medical practitioners. Dr. Dorne, in his "Table Traits" mentions that in the days of Evelyn (1692) the cucumber was looked upon as

ONLY ONE REMOVE FROM POISON, and adds that it had better be eaten and enjoyed with that opinion in memory. Abernethy also gave a quaint recipe for its use, which was to peel the cucumber, slice it, pepper it, put vinegar to it, then throw it out of the window. The extent to which the cucumber is used by the inhabitants of Egypt and the Southwest of Asia would scarcely seem credible. A correspondent of the Daily News in the summer of 1874, returning from the fair of Nijni-Novgorod, was struck with the profusion of water-melons and cucumbers offered for sale. Pyramids of melons and water-melons like cannon-balls in an arsenal, were heaped up in every direction, and as for cucumbers, you could not help fancying that a plague of them, like locusts, had descended upon the earth. You never see a Russian peasant at dinner but you see the lump of black bread and a cucumber. The cucumber seems certainly a singular diet to be so national in a country with a climate like Russia. In Germany cucumbers, are preserved from one year to the other by immersion in deep wells, where the uniform temperature and exclusion from air seems to be the preserving agent.

Heat and Death in New York.

From the Sun.

Nearly half the population of New York dwell in crowded tenements, in houses which contain over three families living and cooking their own food; but it is an appalling fact of the official statistics that of the deaths of the city in 1878 not far from seventy per cent. occurred in the 35,000 tenement houses, or were those of persons sent from them to the public hospitals. More than two-thirds of the mortality of the city, therefore, is furnished by the tenement house population.

The chief proportion of this mortality is that of children five years of age; and during the three months of July, August and September their chances of life are fewest. They have then not only to contend against the close and heated air of their habitations, but against pestiferous influences of many other sorts, including the noxious odors of the streets in which the majority of the tenement house population live.

The Great Russian Robbery.

From the Globe.

Our correspondent at Kherson sends us word that 1,000,000 rubles of the money (one million and a half) stolen from the Government Treasury have been recovered, and some of the robbers arrested. According to the rumor that needs yet official support, the robbery was the work of Nihilists. The lady who called herself Mrs. Dr. Nikitin, and who was the tenant of the house from which the subterranean passage to the Treasury was made, is said to be Mme. Vitten, the sister of a Nihilist lady lately sent to Siberia. The money may have been stolen with the purpose of securing the escape or improving the condition of the political criminals in Siberia.

Brushwood Leeches.

From the Chicago Field.

It is generally thought that all leeches are aquatic, but this is a mistake. In the warm regions of the Old and New World there live in the brushwood leeches which attack the traveler as well as his horse, and suck the blood of both without their perceiving it. Hoffmeister states that in Ceylon while collecting insects during the evening, he was terribly bitten by leeches abounding in the brush and thickets. They have been found in the Himalayas, 11,000 feet above the level of the sea, and a blind leech has been found by F. Miller in damp earth in Brazil.

A VISION OF THE SIERRA.

The Pacific Railroad May Have Been Foreseen by a Dying Donnerite.

(From the preface to the "History of the Donner Party.")

"The delirium preceding death by starvation, in full of strange phantasies. Visions of plenty, of comfort, of elegance flit over before the fast-dimming eyes. The final twilight of death is a brief semi-consciousness in which the dying one frequently repeats his weird dreams. Half rising from his snowy couch, pointing upward, one of the death-stricken at Donner Lake may have said, with tremulous voice: 'Look! there, just above us, is a beautiful house. It is of costliest walnut, inlaid with laurel and ebony, and is resplendent with burnished silver. Magnificent in all its appointments, it is furnished like a palace. It is rich with costly cushions, elegant tapestries, dazzling mirrors; its floor is covered with Oriental carpets, its ceiling with artistic frescoings; downy cushions invite the weary to repose. It is filled with people who are chatting, laughing and singing, joyous and care free. There is an abundance of warmth and rare viands, and sparkling wines.

SUSPENDED AMONG THE STORM-CLOUDS, it is flying along the face of the precipice at a marvelous speed. Flying! no! it has wheels and is gliding along on a smooth steel pathway. It is sheltered from the wind and snow by large beams and huge posts which are bolted to the cliffs with heavy iron rods. The avalanches, with their burden of earth and rocks, and crushed pines, sweep harmlessly above this beautiful house and its happy inmates. It is drawn by neither oxen nor horses, but by a fiery, hot-breathed monster, with iron limbs and thews of steel. The mountain trembles beneath his tread, and the rocks for miles re-echo his roar.' If such a vision was related, it but indicates, prophetically, the progress of a few years. California's history is replete with tragic, startling events. These events are the landmarks by which its advancement is traced. One of the most mournful of these, is recorded in this work—a work intended as a contribution, not to the literature, but to the history of the State. More thrilling than romance, more terrible than fiction, the sufferings of the Donner Party form a bold contrast to the joys of pleasure seekers who to-day look down upon the lake from the windows of silver palace cars."

A Race With no Religion.

From the Chicago Field.

The Zulus have no form of religion or worship. A few European mission stations exist in the country, but the missionaries do not as yet appear to have made many converts. A belief in witchcraft exists both in Zululand and among the Kafir tribes in Natal; and many a native has met his death at the hands of his own people, being condemned as the possessor of supernatural powers. The victim is executed in a horrible manner.

HORSE-STEALING PETTY LARCENY.

About two weeks since, the GAZETTE made some comments upon the fine of $45 imposed by a Winnemucca Justice, as a punishment for horse-stealing. The Silver State says, in explanation of the matter, that the evidence showed the value of the horse to be less than $50. Had the animal been worth more than that sum, the Justice would have had no jurisdiction; but, the value being less, the case came under his authority, which he exercised as stated.

The operations of law in Nevada are peculiar. A rowdy, for disorderly conduct in Reno, gets sixty days in jail; while a Winnemucca Justice takes $45 from a convicted horse-thief and sets him free. The Silver State has shown that the Winnemucca functionary had jurisdiction in the case, but has not shown that the fine was an adequate punishment for the offense. This legal lunacy, it appears, measures the punishment for theft by the value of the article stolen. Had the stolen horse been worth more than $50, the theft would have been grand larceny, and the prisoner held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The law seems at fault in drawing such a purely arbitrary distinction between grand and petty larceny. If a rogue steals a poor woman's horse, a school-master's, preacher's or editor's scrub, worth $35, it is petty larceny. He pays his little fine, if caught, and tries again. But, if he steals a rich man's horse, it is grand larceny, and, if captured, the wretch must expiate his crime behind the bars of the penitentiary. Such operations of law make the excuse for the hempen noose and the reformatory tar.

CAUSE FOR CONGRATULATION.

It may be a little warmer than is desirable for comfort just now, but the man that reads the papers may well be thankful that his lines are cast in Reno. Here no pestilence stalks with destroying tread to decimate our population. Here sunstroke finds no victims. No deadly malaria descends at night to sow the seeds of fever and death. Reno is almost free from sickness during these warm summer days, while from the Atlantic coast comes news of prostration from heat; of the great mortality in the crowded cities, made hospitals by the burning sun. And in the south the yellow fever threatens to again bring wide-spread desolation in its train. While at night, in Boston or New York, during the heated term sound and refreshing sleep is unknown, here the evening brings always on its wings the snow cooled air from the mountain tops, and the weary toiler lies down at night to refreshing and undisturbed repose.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

A cinnamon bear, weighing 500 pounds, was killed at Webber lake this week.
 The drought is great in all the southern counties of Utah, and cattle are dying in great numbers.

At Marysville, Cal., on Wednesday, D. H. Gould sold to D. N. Friesleben 1,800 sheep at $1 per head.

Statistics go to show the quantity of wool raised in Oregon has increased 750 per cent in the last eight years.

Sacramento proposes to have a gala week during the holding of the State Fair, and is making preparations for many extra attractions.

The Healdsburg Flag says: B. G. Lathrop's West India Valley grass, sown on the upland, stands about two feet high, the product of each seed covering a circle of ground eighteen inches in diameter. This offers a glorious prospect for his upland pasture.

The Eugene (Oregon) Guard says: A somewhat remarkable phenomenon happened below town about four miles, on the Fourth of July. The snow and hail fell to the depth of two or three inches, and it was almost as cold as a genuine winter snow storm.

Trout fishing in Donner Creek and Cold Stream continues excellent, despite the multiplicity of grasshoppers, says the Republican. It is noticeable, however, that the anglers who follow "fly-fishing," or use fly hooks, succeed the best.

The Salt Lake Triune publishes the following: The intellectual status of the Mormon people is shown by the fact that in a city containing a population of 50,000 inhabitants, an average of not exceeding 250 per day includes all the letters received for distribution at the general delivery window. This is the case in Salt Lake.

Gorman took a long run to make a little jump.—Eureka Leader.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The International Hotel in Eureka is to have a third story added.
 Five years ago last Thursday 17 lives were lost by the flood at Eureka. Cottonwood is selling at $8 per cord in Winnemucca, and seasoned pine for $13.

The new rooms of the Carson Reform Club will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

Little Dan De Leony, of Virginia, found a lady's pocket book containing $117, and restored it to the owner.

The lower levels of the Savage are intensely hot. The water has a temperature of 150 degrees, scalding hot.

A drunken Empire blacksmith rode out of Carson on a hired horse last Wednesday and has not since been heard from.

Carson is overrun with worthless human vermin, says the Appeal, and it is really about time that something was done to expel them.

The fire of Eureka's sheriff is excited at the sight of the pack of tag-legs dogs, and the present inefficient pound master is to be removed.

The daily business of the Virginia Postoffice is from 1200 to 1500 letters, four bags of newspapers, 20 to 30 registered letters, and 30 to 40 packages.

On Thursday M. Marks and N. S. Gallagher quarreled at Austin over a game of cards. Marks stabbed Gallagher, inflicting wounds, which it is thought will prove fatal.

Score of recent pigeon shooting match at Ruby Hill: Rogers, 19 out of a possible 20—he missing his fourth bird; Stinson, 18—losing his first and last birds. The stakes, $300, were bagged by Rogers.

All the wells on the Richmond side of Ruby Hill have gone dry. It is supposed that the action of the Eureka Con. Company in turning its water to the east, has caused the failure.

A gentleman in the Mint informed an Appeal reporter that a few days ago he overheard three boys, none of whom could have been more than 16 years of age, relating their experience in a Chinese opium den, where they had smoked the vile drug.

The Sherwin-Porteus combination had a very small house in Eureka last Wednesday evening. The Leader remarks that Italian opera or selections which require a first class musical education to understand and appreciate, will not pay in Eureka.

Thomas McBride in Can Can restaurant at Tuscarora, Wednesday, called waiter William Barber a liar. Waiter forcibly resisted the appeal, but retreated before McBride's pistol, followed by three harmless shots. McBride arrested. Ineffectiveness of revolver subject of much remark.

On Thursday, says the Appeal, Captain Avery, of the steamer Niagara, and Captain Pomin, of the steamer Stanford, plying on Lake Tahoe, got into a fight in front of Short's at Glenbrook. They were parted by lookers on, but as they got to the wharf they renewed their quarrel, Captain Avery hitting Captain Pomin over the head with a six-shooter, however, doing but little injury. In the melee, Avery had his coat torn from his back. The belligerents were again separated and went to their respective boats.

J. W. Oakes, of Visalia, Cal., had still hanging arrested at Tuscarora for horse stealing, the stolen stock being found in Huling's possession. Huling was committed to jail. In the meantime, says the Times-Review, Oakes made a compromise with the prisoner, who had considerable money, received a big price for his horses, which he conveyed by bill of sale to Huling's counsel, and, with his coin in pocket, lit out secretly for his home in California. When Huling was brought before the Justice, there being no one to appear against him, of course he was discharged.

An anti-Chinese club has been formed in Eureka "for the purpose of ridding Eureka county of Mongolian competition." Its members bind themselves not to patronize anyone who employs Chinese, and their platform declares that it is their duty "to drive the Chinese from our midst by all legal means—peaceably, if we can; forcibly, if we must." A resolution affirms "that all parties ignoring their signatures to the list of membership will be looked upon as enemies to their race."

Partner Wanted.

Talk is Cheap.
 And so are fine clothing, boots, shoes and gentlemen's and boys' fine furnishings. If you go to the right place you get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who want them sell cheap, do nothing of the kind. We do not boast when we say that we defy competition in prices in anything in our line. Besides this we have only one price. We have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at our establishment. Our stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this state. Everything we have is new. No old, musty, and out-of-date goods can be found on our shelves. We receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of our prices, and examine our stock before going into those humbugging, cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing, we make a profit on everything we sell, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. We particularly call attention to our full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods forms one of our specialties. Remember this place, the White House, No. 19 Commercial Row.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, The State of Nevada sends to Arden Jones greeting: You are hereby required to appear in said court on the 11th day of October, 1879, at 10 o'clock, a. m., to answer the complaint therein with- in ten days after the service on you of this Summons, (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said time according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolv- ing the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant. Plaintiff alleges: That plaintiff and defen- dant intermarried at Mono county, California, on or about July 29th, A. D. 1878, and ever since have been and now are husband and wife; that on or about September 9th, A. D. 1878, you, the defendant, willfully deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and ever since have so continued and do now so continue to de- sert, abandon and live apart from the plaintiff against her will, wish or consent; that, from more than a year next preceding the com- mencement of this action you, the defendant, have failed and neglected and now do fail and neglect to provide for the plaintiff the com- mon necessities of life, which neglect is and was not the result of poverty on your part, which neglect could not have been avoided by ordinary industry; that there are no children living of the issue of said marriage and no common property. Plaintiff prays to be restored to her maiden name and for costs, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the clerk of said court at Reno, in said county. And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief de- manded.

In testimony whereof, I, P. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk of said court, have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court this sixth day of December, A. D. 1878.

P. B. COMSTOCK,
Clerk of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

It is highly recommended by the faculty for all cases of Nervousness, Weakness, Debility, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc. It is now introduced to the public of the Pacific Slope, endorsed by the following certificates of the eminent Dr. S. D. H. C. Loudonback, of St. Louis, Mo., both gentlemen prominent in their profession, and which is a guarantee to all buyers of its purity and quality.

I can show thousands of letters from private persons from all parts of the Union and Can- ada, testifying to its merits and the benefit it has afforded, as a family remedy and tonic. Osborn & Shoemaker, agents for Washoe county, will supply dealers at jobbers' rates by the bulk or case.

WHY STAY POOR?

Prospecting often Pays; Idleness Never.

The millions of the Comstock were a lucky find. Worthless looking rock is often rich in treasure. At Leadville a simple assay made millions of many. Other bonanzas where least suspected await the coming of some un- known man. Who is he?

At Virginia City, Nevada, assays for Gold and Silver are made at $1.00 per sample, by CONRAD WIEGAND, formerly the Super- vising Assayer of the U. S. Mint at San Fran- cisco.

The mail will carry ore samples to his office for one cent per ounce.

Reports which may be relied on absolutely, come back by return mail, or results are tele- graphed when ordered so.

All costs, delays and risks in remitting money are avoided by the purchase of our Dollar Remittance Tickets, which pay for all work done in our establishment.

We sell these remittance tickets at a discount, when $5 worth or more are ordered at one time.

Small sacks for mailing ore samples also for sale at a nominal price.
